Intensive insulin therapy reduces microdialysis glucose values without altering glucose utilization or improving the lactate/pyruvate ratio after traumatic brain injury. All statistical analysis was performed in R (v.3.4.3; www.r-project.org) using the packages: nlme, rms, mgcv, mice, survival, eulier, and ggplot2. Aerobic hyperglycemia, wherein anaerobic glycolysis is upregulated despite sufficient oxygen availability, has been demonstrated to be a common early phenomenon in both preclinical models and human TBI patients [27]. Czosnyka M, Czosnyka Z, Smielewski P. The weakness of the relationship between LPR and PbtO₂ concords with the growing evidence that LPR>25 is not only a marker of hypoxia / ischaemia (which are nowadays uncommon, with modern neurocritical care), but LPR can become elevated even when PbtO₂ levels are regarded as "adequate"-suggesting mitochondrial dysfunction. Shaded region indicates 95%CI for the fit. Jalloh I, Helmy A, Shannon RJ, et al. Oddo M, Schmidt JM, Carrera E. Patients had continuous measurement of intracranial pressure (ICP), arterial blood pressure (ABP), brain tissue oxygenation (PbtO₂), and cerebral metabolism and were managed according to a standardized therapeutic protocol. pmid:29368635 30. At a mean level, the secondary increase in LPR was due primarily to increasing lactate, whereas the trend for pyruvate was relatively flat. Carpenter KLH, Jalloh J, Hutchinson PJ. White Matter Injury after Intracerebral Hemorrhage: Pathophysiology and Therapeutic Strategies. Hutchinson PJ, Jalloh I, Helmy A et al. It confirms the independent association of brain metabolic derangements, specifically raised lactate/pyruvate ratio (LPR), with survival and neurological outcome and therefore that therapy directed at normalising metabolism has the potential to improve outcomes. The non-linear relationships identified between LPR and CPP, PbtO₂, PRx and brain glucose directly suggest therapeutic goals that could be adopted to improve cerebral metabolism. Cerebral perfusion and stroke.

1998;15(12): pp.1059-66. 2012;32(7):1152-66. A third removal route is via the so-called glymphatic system-paravascular channels in the brain, which facilitate clearance of waste products, including lactate, from the brain interstitial fluid into the CSF and thence into lymph vessels [24]. pmid:28207601 6. Furthermore, interrogating the derivatives of the fitted curves allows inference of natural threshold in the inter-relationships that can potentially inform treatment plans. pmid:27481936 25. Front Neurosci. 2015;9:112. pmid:23017022 7. In brief, patients were sedated, paralysed, and mechanically ventilated to a target PaCO₂ of 4.5-5 kPa. Vasopressors are used to maintain a cerebral perfusion pressure (CPP) of 55-65 mmHg. In response to elevated intracranial pressure, there was a staged application of otorhinolaryngology, external ventricular drainage, hypothermia, barbiturate coma, and ultimately decompressive craniectomy. Simpson G.L. Modelling palaeoecological time series using generalized additive models. A combined microdialysis and FDG-PET study of glucose metabolism in head injury. To mitigate any bias of a small proportion of extreme outliers when calculating summary statistics the data were Winsorized at the 0.00125 quantile, i.e. data that were either above or below the 99.875th and 0.125th quantile, respectively, were changed to be equal to the respective quantile thresholds. Hutchinson PJ, O'Connell MT, Seal A et al. 1994;9:1. pp.1062-5. 9. Furthermore, patient-level covariates, effect sizes, and regression error terms can also be included. Relationships between lactate/pyruvate ratio (LPR) and physiological parameters. In this panel, GAMM fit of glucose vs. ICP (B), PRx (C), and PRx vs. (D) against LPR is plotted. This panel does not include all variables in the model. However, this is in accordance with the literature, which has excluded the flexible and data-driven approach of GAMMs. GAMMs is a powerful means of estimating smooth non-linear relationships and does not require the user to specify the form of the function. pmid:19099177 11. These latter processes are potentially modifiable influence on patients' outcome and are the focus of current and experimental interventions in neurointensive care. pmid:79380317. 23. These are key questions to address in taking forward the present findings to inform clinical treatment of patients. Outcome could not be determined in 37 (6.0%) of patients. pmid:18936953 17. Traumatic brain injury- intensive care management. In the CNS there is evidence that glia and neurons are metabolically coupled in the so-called 'Astrocyte-Neuron Lactate Shuttle' (ANLS) [16-18]. Wood SN. 2017;11:422. More N, Chavin S, Harris NG, Hovda DA, Sutton RL. Ordinal proportional hazards regression was performed with the lrm function from the rms package. 48.9% of microdialysis samples where pyruvate and lactate were assayed demonstrated LPR>25. 2011 May 18;31(20):7477-85. 2006;34(3): pp. PRx demonstrated a similar temporal trend in both outcome groups but was significantly higher (reflecting more impaired autoregulation) in those with unfavourable outcome. The canonical model of cellular respiration commences with glucose entering the cytosol, proceeding along the series of enzymes of the glycolytic pathway to pyruvate (with net gain of two ATP molecules), which in turn enters the mitochondria to feed the TCA cycle and the electron transport chain, producing a further 34 molecules of ATP. Within that study, in those patients with LPR>25, mitochondrial dysfunction and neuroglycopenia were most frequent. Targeting CPP to minimise PRx (i.e. optimise autoregulation) may be beneficial in ameliorating metabolic dysfunction. Glymphatic clearance controls state-dependent changes in brain lactate concentration. Consensus statement from the 2014 International Microdialysis Forum. In addition to microdialysis, 461 (74.5%) patients had ABP, ICP, and PbtO₂ data recorded in ICM+, G0802251 and Raymond and Beverly Sackler Fellowship: Royal College of Surgeons of England and the NIHR Cambridge Biomedical Research Centre; IT is supported by Evelyn Trust grant, MRC RESCUEnet trial grant and BP-TNK Kapitza Scholarship; DKM is supported by an NIHR Senior Investigator Award; PJAH is supported by an NIHR Research Professorship; Academy of Medical Sciences/Health Foundation Senior Surgical Scientist Fellowship, NIHR Biomedical Research Centre, Cambridge, and the NIHR Global Health Research Group on Neurotrauma. Competing interests: I have read the journal's policy and the authors of this manuscript have the following competing interests: PJAH is a director of Technicam (Newton Abbot, UK), the manufacturer of the cranial access device used in this study. 2017;23: pp.103-9. We examined the prognostic value of microdialysis parameters, and the inter-relationships with other neuromonitoring modalities to identify interventions that improve metabolism. MC and PS have financial interest in a part of licensing fee for ICM+ software (Cambridge Enterprise Ltd, UK). pmid:28742817 16. Markus HS, Tao C, Hu X, Li H, You C, Mächler P, Wyss MT, Elsayed M, et al. pmid:18936953 31. 2017 Jun;37(6):2112-2124. Univariate comparison of individual mean LPR was not significantly different between unfavourable and favourable outcome groups when averaged over the first 24h from injury but was significantly different when averaged over the first 72h from injury (Fig 1 median [IQR]: 25.8 [11.0] vs. GAMMs are therefore well served to analyse time-series/longitudinal data of differing duration from multiple individuals. 2009;151: pp. Consistent with the GAMM models, LPR was significantly higher when with glucose
